I tried Project.getAttributes(), however there is no such method in Eclipse. A: Reflection API gives you low level access to classes, instances and packages. You can get the list of top level objects (packages, classes, interfaces, etc.) easily. To get a list of all fields of a class, you need to iterate through the list of the class elements. Or as I'm sure you don't have a class called Attributes, you could create a class that implements the Attribute interface and make it available to the project.
