It is a modular, standalone application that allows you to create and burn DVDs, YouTube videos, etc. We write every Wednesday morning to voice our top WNBA Draft prospect picks. We'll go running back-and-forth on who we think will do what in the next few years. We have names for the aforementioned picks, but they aren't necessarily the ones we think will be drafted. They may get drafted, but we're not sure what team they will wind up on. Here's a look at what we think will happen in the next few years: WNBA Draft 2017

1. Connecticut Sun: The Sun are the team with the deepest pool of talent in the draft. I think they'd have the most success being a 4-5 seed in the tournament. They have the No. 1, No. 2 and No. 5 picks this year. As part of this group, I'd expect Tristan Thompson to go No. 1. But Kia Nurse could be around if she's not selected first.
2. Los Angeles Sparks: The Sparks are the only team I see going 2-0 in the conference finals as the No. 1 team in the selection order. They have the No. 8 and No. 11 picks in this year's draft. The No. 8 pick is going to be a back-court player. Like San Antonio's Erin Beatty and Phoenix's Bria Hartley, I see Nurse falling in the draft somewhere between 8-11, depending on how much the team values her.
3. Los Angeles Angels: The eighth pick of the draft is almost impossible to guess, but I think the league would be happy with a 5-1 draft. The Angels have three of them. With four, at least one could wind up in a league they couldn't afford and the team would have to buy another pick. They can also move up a few spots in a deep draft without falling too far back.
4. Los Angeles Dodgers: The Dodgers have three picks in the draft. At No. 9, I think they select a front-court player. At No. 13, I think they take a guard, and at No. 22 I think they select another back-court player.
5. Washington Mystics: If I had to do a 1-5 guess, it would be: 5-2-2-2-2. I think the Mystics
