KeyMACRO is a powerful macro recorder. It allows you to record any sequence of commands and play them back in a sequence, or play them back one at a time. You can use a variety of Macros with KeyMACRO, such as the following: - Record a series of keystrokes or mouse actions - Execute keystrokes or mouse actions - Play a.wav,.mp3,.aiff,.midi file - Execute a screen shot of any application - Execute a script - Execute an application's installer - Execute a Windows batch file - Execute a script or batch file from the command line or a keyboard shortcut. When you record, it captures all keystrokes and mouse actions, so you can use them later, for example, to automate tasks. It is also possible to use custom sequences of keystrokes or mouse actions, such as letter combinations. The recorder will capture the input from the system keystrokes, mouse clicks, and text input. To create a custom sequence of actions or commands, press the Record Macro button and then enter the desired sequence of keystrokes or mouse actions. A preview of your recording is displayed to help you edit or fine-tune your sequence. After you've made changes, press the Play Macro button to execute your custom sequence of actions or commands. To play the sequence back, click the Play Macro button again. You can play through the entire sequence or only play back a portion of the recording. In addition to using KeyMACRO to record keyboard and mouse actions, you can also use it to automatically record data entry on the screen. Just press the Record Data screen shot button, enter the desired options, and press the Capture Screen button to start the recording. KeyMACRO is a useful and easy-to-use macro recorder. It is also a good replacement for RecordIt.
